

Little Thing Called You

Lynyrd Skynyrd

Woman, lose my number
You can't get to me
My pockets ain't deep enough
Your eyes are seein' green
I caught you lyin', you're a cheat
Oh Lord, shame on me
I loved you once and tried you twice
But you've become bad company
Somebody call the rescue
'Cause I think I'm on the edge
Yeah, you're just like a sledgehammer
You keep poundin' in my head
While you were on the phone lyin' to me
You were lyin' next to who?
It ain't nothin' to do about the heartache
It's just a little thing called you, yeah, you
All my friends did tell me
But I could not believe
Well, you were doin' me wrong while I was gone
How wicked can you be
Yeah, a black cat crosses many roads
Chills you to the bone
I might be hurt but I won't cry
'Cause I'm a man that's not alone
Yeah, somebody call the rescue
'Cause I think I'm on the edge
Yeah, you're just like a sledgehammer
You keep poundin' in my head
While you were on the phone lyin' to me
You were lyin' next to who?
It ain't nothin' to do about the heartache
It's just a little thing called you
Little thing called you
Yeah, somebody call the rescue
'Cause I think I'm on the edge
Yeah, you're just like a sledgehammer
Girl, you're poundin' in my head
While you were on the phone lyin' to me
You were lyin' next to who?

It ain't nothin' to do about the heartache
Yeah, it ain't nothin' to do about the heartache
It's just a little thing called you
A little thing called you
A little thing called you
