Around the World and Back

Theocracy

Hey weary traveler, have you finally lost your way?
ch dream of turning back the clock to yesterday what seemed so simple then has now taded away
And you'd often wonder why
The truth surrendered as the years went byYou grabbed the simple gift and held it as a child
But faith became encumbered
Chained after awhile
And then your journey just got harder every mile
But it's an endless game, you see Forget the rest and just come back to MeReaching out, reaching in Faith to works to doubt and back again
You've been around the world and back
Love and loss, vanity
Just believe and leave the rest to Me
You'll see
Around the world and backGrace has a way of building nope out of despair
Peel back the layers or the baggage that you bear
And watch your great confusion vanish in the air
Now the lies have gone away
You found that child from long ago todayReaching out, reaching in...You will never reach as high as heaven's door
You could never build a bridge to Me
Your greatest acts are filthy rags
But grace alone is free
So rest in MeSo many try to qualify the promise that I've made
To twist the gift into some kind or trade
But grace bears no allowance
For your works to make your way
Be not afraid
Your price is paidReaching out, reaching in...
