Tijad

Lucid dreams replaced my life.
That is why I closed the curtains.
That is why I close my eyes.

My life is one big celebration please donÂ´t say it is not real
My life is one sweet invitation that I take with both hands
Walking by your side, running through the night what a brilliant sight two hearts so intertwined wouldnâ€™t you agree.

â€œIndeed in psychology lovesickness is not considered an actual syndrome, but in severe cases it can lead to mental illness. From my experience I know that pathological lovesickness often co-occurs with a misplaced sense of self-importance as is thanatophobia, the fear of dying. Self-indulgent tendencies or a slight self-fulfilling bias are not necessarily problematic but one should not actually believe that your life or your heartaches truly matter or that anyone should care.â€•

My life is one big celebration please donÂ´t say it is not real
My life is one sweet invitation that I take with both hands
We watch the rising tide, a seagull in its flight.

I write your name in the sand because nothing lasts forever wouldnÂ´t you agree.
