

Open Your Window (Robert Eibach Remix)

Lauren Nikohl

VERSE 1

Come on, look inside your window
'Cause there's so many things that you just don't see
Listen now, please lift your chin up
If you don't want to do it alone, it can be you and me

PRE-CHORUS 1

There is something I should say
Don't consume your mind this way
We have got one life and then that's it
So take some chances and just live it, live it
You should move, you should shake, you should dance through the night
You should conquer your fears and be rid of your strife
Every day's a miracle, and now that you see
If you celebrate life, you'll be living like me

VERSE 2

Take a breath, just take it in now
You can yell at the mountains, or scream at the sea
But when you're through and feel all better
You should come take a load off and watch the stars with me

PRE-CHORUS 2

There is something I should say
Don't consume your mind this way
Life is love and love is what we should give
So if we don't, then we don't know how to live
We should move, we should shake, we should dance through the night
We should conquer our fears and be rid of our strife
Every day is a new day to go out and see
When we celebrate life, we'll be living so free

BRIDGE

Now's the time to change it
Take life, rearrange it
Rise above, spread the love
And celebrate it

CHORUS 3

You should move, you should shake, you should dance through the night
You should conquer your fears and be rid of your strife
Every day's a miracle, and now that you see
If you celebrate life, you'll be living like me
We should move, we should shake, we should dance through the night
We should conquer our fears and be rid of our strife
Every day is a new day to go out and see
When we celebrate life, we'll be living so free
Living so free
Open your window and see
