

Better Luck Next Time

We Are The In Crowd

I guess it was wishful to think
I was different from the rest
Now I'm red in the face
I don't think I'm impressed Miss strong and outspoken
So easily broken
Now I kick myself
I should've know better
Get it together
You can't blame me
Are you listening? Wrap your lines
Around another
While you sweet talk to yourself
I'd rather leave
You stitched a heart on your sleeve
But I see right through the seams
I knew the coward in you
Would play the lead The nights you spent with me
And didn't want to leave
You stayed with me until I fell asleep All the things I wish I said
Playing back inside my head
It just might be a long shot
You're marching with your eyes shut Wrap your lines
Around another
While you sweet talk to yourself
I'd rather leave
You stitched a heart on your sleeve
But I see right through the seams
I knew the coward in you
Would play the lead All the things I wish I said
Playing back inside my head It just might be a long shot
You're marching with your eyes shut x2 Wrap your lines
Around another
While you sweet talk to yourself
I'd rather leave
You've stitched a heart on your sleeve
But I see right through the seams
I knew the coward in you
Would play the lead
