

Malcontented One

The Holloways

When I was one, my papa dropped me on my head
And some damage was done
Around the bend and out of my tree
Not how I was meant to be I don't know where went all my sense
I get lost sitting on the fence I am the malcontented one
I don't fit in, I never have done
No, I never have done Second verse, second verse
Already lost for words
Not complicated I'm just so frustrated
I got so little to say I don't know where, where I'm from
They say I'm British, I don't know where I belong I am the malcontented one
I don't fit in, I never have done I am a disappearing boy
(I am a disappearing boy)
I'll look back [Incomprehensible] I'm paranoid Third verse, still lost for words
I don't know what to do
Oh my friend, I'm not in the groove
Not on the same level as you I felt so lost for far too long
And I'm past caring for how to get along I am the malcontented one
I don't fit in, I never have done
No I never have done (I am a disappearing boy)
No, I never have done
I never, never, never have done
(I am a disappearing boy)
No I never have done
