Scout's Honor

Yours Truly

Liar, I see through your words
Youve got a lot to say, but nothing to be heard
You lost it all, before you even pushed play
l could steal your lines
But theres nothing there for me to take awayWell, well, what have you done now?
Seems youre all washed up and you dont knowHow you got here nowIs by running your mouth.Youll never see what youve done
Because youre always looking down on everyone.When youre living in the shadows, its easy to forget
When you finally wake up, trust me youll have regrets
When you always run in circles, its hard to catch your breath
When youre always switching sides, I cant even tell which face is best.Ill never be good enough to you, but Ill be good enough for me.I wont tell if you wont tell.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/