

Mexican Boyfriend

Shivaree

I wore the dress that you liked almost everyday
Boxed up all my baby dolls and gave them away
I wrote your name on the wall next to my bed
Any day that I saw you at all was circled in red
What they said was a man drifted over the line
Drove you away and a little girl out of her mind
And the rain fell down and washed off the face
Washed you away, left carnations and stone in your place
[Foreign Content]
My first cigarette and my first pill
My first cup of coffee and my first chill
Now you'll never know my first kiss, somebody else will
'Cause you were the first one I saw holding that still
