All set, systems on and ready Move forward, level reads okay Click, drive, prepare to break away One target, today is D-day Soaked in lies and fears after all these years When the sun will rise, the monster's gonna die From now on, things are gonna change 'Coz we know why and how who you really are From now on, things won't be the same 'Coz we know what you're doing and we know Where you're hiding, we know everything Next step, engage all procedures Code, enter, signal loud and clear Star-shell sparkling high in the sky All together we'll make this dream come true Raised in blood and tears after all these years As the sun goes down a new world comes along
