

Do You Remember?

Dikta

in dead of night i'm walking and the signs mean nothing to me is this easy street where i used to roam?and somewhere in the city lies a lion sleeping pretty so tread lightly or we'll never get homewhere are we headed?
and where are we now?
don't mind the darkness just sing it back to medo you remember where it all began?
take me there, right nowdo you remember when the world stood still?
pack your bags, right nowthe streets are lined with linen as the riots fade within them and we rush by without slowing downthe mirror's full of fires that were started by the liars we don't care because we won't be aroundin bright lights i am walking and the signs mean something to me this is easy street, this is home
