Buried Alive

Black Sabbath

Once upon a nightmare

Once upon a time

You're running from temptation

You got lost and found that you don't Belong to anybody

You're all the same

Just another number

Cross it out whenever you don't behaveSomeone get the doctor

He knows what to do

Throw some bones and mumble

The devil's inside of youIt might be contagious

It might change the plan

Get back in your tiny boxes

Even if you can't, we say you canJoin the congregation

Everybody's got to get in line

We never justify

The choir sings a never-ending lieWhen you thought

You were free

You didn't need a reason

No reason to surviveAs the big door closes

And you're waiting for the nail

Somebody tell the world

You're buried aliveOnce upon a nightmare

Once upon a time

Running from tomorrow

You got lost and found that another Day has turned to ashes

Been taken by the wind

Frozen seeds of sorrow

Never to beginJoin the celebration

And everybody's got to get in line and

We never justify

The choir sings a never-ending lieWhen you thought

You were free

You did not need a reason

No reason to surviveAs the big door closes

And you waiting for the mail

Somebody tell the world

You're buried aliveOne more nightmare

Just one more time

Join the congregation

Everybody get in lineCelebration, the choir sings a lie
As you call, the hammer falls
No one hears you cry
I'm buried alive
