

The Camper Velourium II: Backend of Forever

Coheed and Cambria

Rocked silent in a soft lullaby
Panic stirred me, awakened by a ringing phone in time
Where and when would I see her? Crazy were the words that scribbled out your mouth
I stuttered replacing your face to those words
Where and when would I kill her? I'll wish on this, I'll wish with this
I, I'll wish to the bitter end of my day
Where were you? So, you had your turn and you made it work
Now, I'm the laughing stock of your joke
As crazy as it may seem, I cried for you when you told me to date all of the things
That made you end up in my life
And I'll believe anything, I have no luck with girls I overheard that you were unhappy too
Misleading trust into a relationship
That makes no sense over and out Connecticut But you had your back turned, there, as you faded away
At the end of my day I found out
You weren't worth what I thought of you
What I thought of you Write this down in that diary you abuse
Can we make plans? Can I just get through to you
Is this weird? Do I scare her? I'll wish on this, I'll wish with this
I, I'll wish that you could share
The love you shared with others with me So, you had your turn and you made it work
Now, I'm the laughing stock of your joke
As crazy as it may seem, I cried for you when you told me to date all of the things
That made you end up in my life
And I'll believe anything, I have no luck with girls I overheard that you were unhappy too
Misleading trust into a relationship
That makes no sense over and out Connecticut But you had your back turned, there, as you faded away
At the end of my day I found out
You weren't worth what I thought of you What I thought of you, of you, dear
What I thought of you, of you, dear But this isn't love
So, forever let it go
Forever let it burn But this isn't love
There on the back end of forever
I wish I would never hurt again And I wish I would never hurt again

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>