Jess Mills

When my blood dries in my veins
And my heart feels no more pain
I know, I'll be on my way to heaven's door I know when I knock
I'll be hoping, I don't drop
To a place where I will run, like before When my mind stops thinking
And my eyes stop blinking
I hope somebody cares
When my heart stops beating
And my lungs stop breathing in air
I hope somebody cares I can feel something happened that I've never felt before
Hope it's real, don't stop dragging me away from heaven's door When my blood dries in my veins
And my heart feels no more pain
I know, I'll be on my way to heaven's door I know when I knock
I'll be hoping, I don't drop
To a place where I will run, like before When my mind stops thinking
And my eyes stop blinking
I hope somebody cares When my heart stops beating
And my lungs stop breathing in air
I hope somebody cares I can feel, something happened that I've never felt before
Hope it's real, don't stop dragging me away from heaven's door Hope it's real, don't stop dragging me away from heaven's door
Hope it's real, don't stop dragging me away from heaven's door
Hope it's real, don't stop dragging me away from heaven's door
Hope it's real, don't stop dragging me away from heaven's door
