Lies

Backyard Babies

Well, Ill be your cigarette man
Do whatever I can
Honey, cant you see at the end of the line theres a home
So far away
Sittin here like a smoke in the rain
Im trying to figure out why sometimes I cant tell you all the things you wanna hearOh, yeah, never ever I can walk your garden
You dont speak, you dont say a word
It really doesnt matter anyway
Why am I like a child in the playground
Wanna touch the rainOh, why cant you tell me lies
Like you never ever done before
Oh, why cant you tell me lies
I need to hear some more
Some more
Some more
Like you never ever done beforeSometimes Ive been so close
But all of the sudden memories just seems to disappear
So far away
It touches me to see your graceless moves
On the other hand it kills me so shame on you
To crusify me on your... yeahOh, yeah, never ever I can walk your garden
You dont speak, you dont say a word
It really doesnt matter anyway
Why am I like a child in the playground
Wanna touch the rainOh, why cant you tell me lies
Like you never ever done before
Oh, why cant you tell me lies
I need to hear some more
Some more
Some more
Like you never ever done beforeWell, life can sometimes be such a tragedy
You would not understand
You would not understand
Why youre bringin me downOh, yeah, never ever I can walk your garden
You dont speak, you dont say
And it really doesnt matter anyway
Why am I like a child in the playgroundWanna touch the rain
Oh, why cant you tell me lies

Like you never ever done before
Oh, why cant you tell me lies
I need to hear some more
Oh, why cant you tell me lies
Like you never ever done before
Oh, yeah, cant you tell me lies
I need to hear some more
Some more
Some more
Like you never ever done before
Some more
Some more
Like you never ever done before`Cause Ill be your cigarette man
I do whatever I can
But, honey, cant you see at the end of the line theres a home
Why do I keep telling you these god damn lies?
