Back to Go Again

Framing Hanley

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Is this really open to discuss?
Maybe we should just hang it up
We were so close
They said we were so farWe swore by now we'd have them wowed
But we're still stuck in this race
With hopes and dreams undone
When did we stop having fun?We got lost somewhere they're not in
Do you remember when
We said it would never end?
We won't back down this time aroundStop where you are and wish
Little things could kill this
Count down from ten
We could be back to go againMaybe we started phoning it in
But then again the numbers don't quite make sense
They don't lie
Give me ten thousand liesAnd this isn't a song about candy
But we're still suckers the same
They fell for your lies
Each and every timeWe got lost somewhere they're not in
Do you remember when
We said it would never end?
We won't back down this time aroundStop where you are and wish
Little things could kill this
Count down from ten
We could be back to go again
Back to go again, againTime is like a [Incomprehensible] train running on the tracks
It's never coming back
So let's grab this while we can
It's all in our handsDo you remember when?
Do you remember?Do you remember when
We said it would never end?
We won't back down this time aroundStop where you are and trust

These little things, we gotta kill us
Count down from ten
We could be back to go again
