

Homeless

Jake Miller

Here I stand in the cold
I tried to knock
'Cause you changed the locks
Now I'm all alone
Where am I supposed to go?
If you are where my home is
I guess that makes me homeless So what now? I got no idea where I'm goin'
I'm lost with no direction like my GPS is broken
I'm walkin' round the streets thinkin' bout you every night
I'm feelin' homeless now
Lookin' like the man from I'm Alright
See I just wanna come back home, can't do this on my own
You were the only thing I knew for sure, guess that I was wrong
See I've tried to walk away but I just end up at your doorstep
Waiting for my phone to ring but nope, you haven't called yet
So I'm wandering, homelessly
Wish that you stayed with me
Thought that we were meant to be
Felt that you were there for me
But I guess not 'cause in case you failed to notice
You used to be my home until you left me homeless Here I stand in the cold
I tried to knock
'Cause you changed the locks
Now I'm all alone
Where am I supposed to go?
If you are where my home is
I guess that makes me homeless So what now? It used to be just you and me
But you kicked me out, locked the doors and tossed away the keys
Put me outside lookin' in,
You would think that I'm just flyin'
But I'm a bigger wreck than the Titanic inside
I'm slippin' on sidewalks, I'm following street signs
I need some help, I'm feelin' stranded, losin' my damn mind
I'm blindfolded by you, girl you took everything that I own
I keep callin' your phone but all I get is the tone
So I'm lookin' up at the stars, these street lights they got me
I never planned on living life without you here right beside me
But guess I was wrong, 'cause in case you failed to notice
You used to be my home until you left me homeless Here I stand in the cold

I tried to knock
'Cause you changed the locks
Now I'm all alone
Where am I supposed to go?
If you are where my home is
I guess that makes me homeless Here I stand in the cold
I tried to knock
'Cause you changed the locks
Now I'm all alone
Where am I supposed to go?
If you are where my home is
I guess that makes me homeless
