Nowhere To Go

Lisa Hannigan

Morning's gone, echoes of dawn
Shaking my soul, all but done
Delirium, the rain with the cold
(With nowhere to go)
Love destroyed, this body figureheads
And lies have I survived?
(Nowhere to go)
We've been brought here for a reason
Be it fate or internal treason
Souls will be saved or mutiny's waged
As we plead for something to believe in Bringing doubt, full of without
Of something to hold
I erode, faith like alone
(Shrink inside as I depart the throne)
Love destroyed this body figureheads and lies
Have I survived?
(With nowhere to go)
Love destroyed this body figureheads and lies
(One by one 'til we are all alone)
Have I survived?
(Nowhere to go)
Love destroyed this body figureheads and lies
Have I survived, breath can't I, can feel the knife
Widen on this grip, confession of a fallen king
I'll do almost anything not to be alive today
If I could end this way of greed
It's came through a scream
And feel like I have won some way
Wade through this dark decay
Welcome an early grave
And put my heart away
To start another game
It's getting old with nowhere to go
Hollow hate, to not to breath, sink inside
To my displease, pain inside, decides my fate
Delirium, this painted face
All alone, more than you'll know
(One by one 'til we are all alone)

Love destroyed this body figureheads and lies
Have I survived?
(With nowhere to go)
Love destroyed this body figureheads and lies
Have I survived?
(Shrink inside as I depart the throne)
Have I survived?
(Nowhere to go)
Love destroyed this body
Have I survived?
(One by one 'til we are all alone)
With nowhere to go
With nowhere to go
There's nothing left to prove
(There's nothing left to prove)
Do what we have to prove
(Do what we have to prove)
What do we have to prove?
(What do we have to prove?)
With nowhere to go
To you
(To you)
There's nothing left to lose
(Good bye)
No where to go
(Goodbye)
