

Canâ€™t Let Go, Juno

Kishi Bashi

Well it's a new day
Another full of heartbreak
And every time I check in on myself
I'm drinking my soul away And every time my phone lights up
My heart keeps skipping enough to give up
You know the better days still remain
Can I be insane forever?
Who knew, my ingénue
That we could never be together
Unless we do a deed we can't undo?
And even if you sing that song
We could be right, or we could be so wrong
Feed the dream, does it seem that we're pushing at the sun?
And if you loved her, would you fake it?
And every letter, would you burn it?
Cause every time I hear the way she said it
I can't let go, I can't let go I say
If I could make you fade away
I could play the game I know so well
It's a fair trade Many of the things I said
Are made from the beautiful things I regret
From the words we made, I feel the pain
Can I know if it's worth it, never? I knew, there's an avenue
Everybody leaves a piece of their heart on the street for us all to view
And even if I feel alone
I know I'm just a man of flesh and bone
Feed the dream, does it seem that we're staring at the sun?
And if you loved her, would you fake it?
And every letter, would you burn it?
Cause every time I hear the way she said it
I can't let go And if you loved her, would you fake it?
And every letter, would you burn it?
Cause every time I hear the way she said it
I can't let go

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.