Brand New Skin

Count The Stars

this brand new skin is wearin thin and youll never know oh untill its goneWhat does it take to get this through to you, subject yourself to things that you deserve, just stop me if you've heard enough of what you should have said and done, like promises that never last, you could waste your whole life you'll never get the best of mine This brand new skin is wearing thin, and you'll never know oh until its goneHow far you go just to destroy yourself, tuck in your self esteem it's falling out, tomorrow may come easier like yesterday was never there, suprising as it always seems,
you could take a lifetime, you'll never get the best of minethis brand new skin is wearin thin and youll never know oh untill its goneI'll stay the "maybe" that waits on you, now im "pathetic" for letting go, just think of this as a lesson learned to never take advantage of the people that depend on youthis brand new skin is wearin thin and youll never know oh untill its gone

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/