

Coldest Kind Of Heart

Twin Danger

i told you to look at the sky when you need to think of me but tonight only clouds you can find how lonely you must be?
lay your head down or close your eyes and forget all compromise such a shame we're so far apart
    the coldest kind of heart
    is it wrong that in us it feels right how the world makes some sense for a while
    And time is on hold for what seems Like reality
But hey, that's just how these things go No longer about give and take
    We could change our ways I suppose The choices one must make
        Is it wrong that in us it feels right?
How the world makes some sense for a while
    And time is on hold for what seems Like eternity
    Darlin it's all the same Love is such a silly game
    Here we are crying to sleep
    But it's you my heart wants to keep Your kiss I'll remember it well Once these feelings don't cast such a spell
    Our love is some kind of art
        The coldest kind of heart
