Synthetic

Groundbreaking

Synthetic machinery
Is all I am and all I could ever be
I'll take it upon myself
To rip my heart out because
I know I won't feel a thingMy light, your touch
Today's the day that everything ignites
My life, your love
I don't know what's wrong or what is right
I fall, you rise
Someone tell me what it's like to live or dieSo break me downCold and heartless, feel so lifeless
It's time to show them that I do not care
Falling farther drifting deeper
I can hear the silence everywhereA purpose to live the life
Of what you wanted me to think or feel
Misleading and misdirect
Who I'm supposed to be in this life of regretNo sight, no smell
All my senses are leaving me
This pain, this hell
All my feelings are running free
All I feel, is this cold
These pulses and wires and electrical strides in my veins
I'm done, I fold
All of my thoughts are just too hard to explainSo break me downFalling down
I knew it would end up like this
Falling down
I knew it would come to thisMy light, your touch
Today's the day that everything ignites
My life, your love
I don't know what's wrong or what is rightï»¿
