

After You've Gone

Harry Connick, Jr.

You're just a mile away
One thousand five tiny steps from here
But if I brought you near
Would you believe when I sayIt seems like yesterday
That I could reach out and touch your face
But as I fall from grace
Into whose arms can I layIt's always much too late
We get the signs
We can't communicate
Or turn back timeSo what will be now, do you feel somehow
Not so together and not quite as strong
Now I believe
Alone doesn't have to mean lonely, after you've goneI need a healing wind
To cool the flame burning in my sight
It must accelerate
For two wrongs they don't make a rightAnd all these solitaires
Lone victories
Wars fought in isolation
With none to pleaseSo what will be now, do you feel somehow
Not so together and not quite as strong
Now I believe
Alone doesn't have to mean lonely, after you've goneThe future's still uncertain
The past is doneSo what will be now, do you feel somehow
Not so together and not quite as strong
Now I believe
Alone doesn't have to mean lonely, after you've goneNow I believe
Alone doesn't have to mean lonely, after you've goneNow I believe
Alone doesn't have to mean lonely, after you've gone
