

Ordinary World

marissanadler

The sun can't remember how to shine
And the colors all have faded into shades of gray
There's no life in this hollow heart of mine
 Ever since you went away
 Close your eyes and feel me hold you
 Can you lead me through this ordinary world
Let the sky cry restless rain to wash away the miles between us
 'Cause without you it's just an ordinary world
 If time could find a way to turn around
I would walk along the stars, till I was back at your door
 Every word, every word is spoken but without a sound
 And I found out what my heart is for
 Close your eyes and feel me hold you
 Can you lead me through this ordinary world
Let the sky cry restless rain to wash away the miles between us
 'Cause without you it's just an ordinary world
 Hold your breath, here I come, time to roll on mine
Take back, to your arms till we melt underneath the blinding sun
 Can't remember how to shine
 You're the life in this hollow heart of mine
 Close your eyes and feel me hold you
 Can you lead me through, through this ordinary world
 Let the sky cry restless rain to wash away the miles between us
'Til love can come redeem us 'cause without you it's just an ordinary world
