

Barons of Langtree

Greenrose Faire

We sing, we sing when we drink
and we sing, and that's what we do, we sing.
We sing when we drink and we raise our pints.

We dance, we dance when we drink
and we dance, and that's what we do, we dance.
We dance when we drink and we sing another song.

Anything you want us to do, consider it done.
No one can stand for our hatred so you better run.

We fight, we fight through the night
and we fight, and that's what we do, we fight.
We fight through the night and they prey for mercy.

We shout, (Hey!) we shout and they fear us, we shout.
And that's what we do, we shout.
We shout and they run and we laugh at them.

And every time they hear the sound of their own misery,
and every time they run away,
and every time they have to meet their own destiny,
and every time they fade away,
it's all the same.

So we rest, after the battle, we rest,
and that's what we do, we rest.
We stare at the moon and we make no sound.
A fire, we're making a fire so come and sit by the tree,
the bottle it's not empty yet so we start to drink.
Again!

Lyrics Submitted by Magdalena Haldin

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>