Break Of Day

Tina Dico

Lying back to back at 10 to 1
You're awake like me
Trying to conceive that done is done
You made a mistake, I seeBut I'm a little too tired, baby
It's a little too lateTo bring it up in the weary dark of night
Between black and white
Is a thousand shades of gray
I'm not giving up but I need a little light
Oh, save it for the break of day
Save it for the break of dayMonday's paper scattered on the floor
Lost in time like me
Nothing that I haven't heard before
A skeptic mind set freeBut I'm a little too tired, baby
It's a little too lateTo bring it up in the weary dark of night
Between black and white
Is a thousand shades of gray
I'm not giving up but I need a little light
Oh, save it for the break of dayA little bit worried lately
Been a little too scared to make me
Take a stand, a chance to maybe
Land this kamikaze romance safelyI'm just a little too tired, baby
It's a little too lateTo bring it up in the weary dark of night
Between black and white
Is a thousand shades of gray
I'm not giving up but I need a little light
Oh, save it for the break of dayDon't bring it up in the weary dark of night
Between black and white
Is a thousand shades of gray
No, I'm not giving up but I need a little light
Oh, save it for the break of daySave it for the break of day
Save it for the break of day
Lonely lonely night I've had
Try to [Incomprehensible]
