It Matters

This Bike Is a Pipe Bomb

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Punk rock is dying or it's dead and we all know it. It doesnt make any sense arguing about it, and even if we did, that's it it would be is an arguement. It doesnt really matter. what really sucks it's that we're gonna let it happen, no one's afraid of becoming stagnant or stale anymore. It doesnt really matter. Turn off your TV. Start a and. Start a zine. why dont you get out of your car, get on your bike, cook you own food? Steal back from the government. go around naked one day. Build something. Paint, draw, doodle, write, read, anything. Please, for your own sake, dont become stale or boring, we're not invincible anymore. Generation X mentality is being shoved down our throat, would you believe you let it down your throat?
