

Face the Truth

John Norum

I've been waiting, waiting for the sunrise
I wipe the dust from my eyes
As night becomes the dawn
In the silence, I thought I heard you crying
And I just feel like dying
As I walk through the door
Is this some kind of dream
This can't be what it seems
Where are you, where are you
I'm in the danger zone
I'm out here all alone
What am I supposed to do?
Face the truth
Tell me can you
Face the truth in your life
Face the truth
Tell me what you gonna do
with your life
I am praying that you'll be waiting for me
Just roll the dice and you'll see
'Cause I'll be waiting there
In the sunlight
I will be at your side
It's making alright
I hope you understand
I just can't lose control
This is my heart and soul
Can't you see, can't you see
The perfect alibi
Just give it one more try
What am I supposed to do?
Face the truth
Tell me can you
Face the truth in your life
Face the truth
Tell me what you gonna do
with your life
I'm in the danger zone

I'm out here all alone
What am I supposed to do?
Face the truth
Tell me can you
Face the truth in your life
Face the truth
Tell me what you gonna do
with your life
Face the truth
Tell me can you
Face the truth in your life
Face the truth
Tell me what you gonna do
with your life

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>