New Morning Sun

Blue Rodeo

Maybe now we could be lovers
We'll share all the darkness in our souls
Don't you tell me lies
I could always see the truth in your eyes
Please don't lead me on Better just to crush me now and be goneWay down here under the red lights
We carved our futures on the wall
Somedays seemed too much
I would always bend right under your touch
Morning comes again
I've already move way past all the painGotta rise up
Rise up and take the sky like a new morning sun
If we walk away
Then we walk away never knowing what we could have done
Maybe you're right
We lose sometime
Stand around to see what's fine
Or what will come
That's the risk that we run
RunNow we can hear everyone talking
Well our world's getting smaller everyday
All our games are played
We gotta live with the mess that we made
Don't you walk away
I can hear every word that you sayGotta rise up
Rise up and take the sky like a new morning sun
If we walk away
Maybe your right
we lose some time
Wait around to see what's fine
or what will come
That's the risk that we runGotta rise up
Rise up and take the sky like a new morning sun
If we walk away
Then we walk away never knowing what we could have doneRise up
Rise up and take the sky like a new morning sun
If we walk away
