

Wasting Time

Doug Crawford

CHORUS Why do i call you each hour in a day
Hang around your doorstep just to see your face
Friends say that i must be blind
Not to see that Im just wasting time I always told Myself I'd never live past 30
Cause 80 % of the money I've made in my life time came dirty
I keep Repeating cycles just waiting until I hurry
Prepared for raining days squaring away retainers for the attorney
Life's is what U make is to I'm taking all that's owed to me
The hell with self control I gotta rock & roll degree
This shit so real now that I can smell it and taste it
Most get defeated by Hatred but instead I embraced
I realize It's no more a want anymore its what I gotta do
And prove every Mother fucker wrong that ever doubted u
My whole life I've been guilty no deliberation from the jury
Waiting for right precise time to unleash my fury
I heard there's no better time than the present
Taking it one day at time I got a legacy to cement
I'm here to change lives & touch people, doing something with my talent
Believing myself that I could was the only real challenge

CHORUS Why do i call you each hour in a day
Hang around your doorstep just to see your face
Friends say that i must be blind
Not to see that Im just wasting time U Ur all talk with no follow threw
I can't b bothered dude
Deep down Still I Think ur mother should've swallowed u
U must b fresh out of luck The best of mes still yet to come
So I suggest best preparing for Armageddon
No more rusty edges we worked all the kinks out
Before madness there a brink we let the Ink pour out
The horizon shows foggy weather
With or without an accomplice
Mission still get accomplished crossings ts & dotting eyes down to the letter
And Just like fine wine over time I just keep on getting better
I'm not a gambling man
But I'd put it all on me bitch cuz I'm a record setter
Our greatest glory is not in never falling
Yet It's in rising every time that we fall by

CHORUS Why do i call you each hour in a day
Hang around your doorstep just to see your face
Friends say that i must be blind

Not to see that Im just wasting time
