Kindness

It's enough to say
You're getting older everyday
You ought to love someone You break down and you pray
Hoping something comes your way
You ought to love someone
Love someone It's enough to say
You're getting older everyday
You ought to love someone You break down and you pray
Hoping something comes your way
You ought to love someone
Love someone I can't give you all that you need
But I'll give you all I can feel I can't give you all that you need
But I'll give you all I can feel It's enough to say
You're getting older everyday
You ought to love someone You break down and you pray
Hoping something comes your way
You ought to love someone
Love someone I can't give you all that you need
But I'll give you all I can feel
