

Your Love Flows On

Wendell Burton

Your Love Flows On (Heart of Eternity)
by Wendell Burton (1985)

Lord, look around Your body
At the ones who bear Your Name
Weâ€™ve compromised our purity
And said the worldâ€™s to blame
As Your love flows on

Weâ€™ve been courted by the Tempter
And surrendered to his ploys
We count Your graces cheap
As our example he destroys
Still Your love flows on

Your love flows on
Like a river of mercy
Your love flows on
To the ones who receive
Your love flows on

Lord it hurts me
To think how You grieve
As You look down and see

How we walk away in silence
And decline to get involved
Our hearts are moved to action
But our minds are unresolved
As Your love flows on

O we strive for wealth and riches
Far beyond the things we need
We walk a narrow line
Between prosperity and greed
Still Your love flows on

Your love flows on
Like a river of mercy
Your love flows on

To the ones who receive
Your love flows on

Lord how it hurts me to think how You grieve
Still I believe
That in spite of our seeming indifference
And the unfaithful servants we've been

Still Your love never ceases
To wash us again and again
O Your love has no end

We're Your modern day disciples
With the fashion it denotes
Contemporary Christians
With a casual approach
As Your love still flows on

Your love flows on
From a heart that is breaking
Your love flows on
Like the tears that You cry

Your love flows on
While we go on
Taking it all in our stride

Your love flows on
In spite of our blindness
Your love flows on
To heal and forgive

Your love flows on
As if to remind us
Of how we should live

Your love flows on
Your love flows on
