

Everything Feels Wrong

Bree Sharp

I've been hanging out in the boredom basement
Building up the files on my MP3
Homemade rockets and a load of laundry --
It's been a real party ever since you set me free
Everyone says it's better now that you're goneThey say that I'm cool, they tell me I'm strong
So how come everything feels wrong?
I took all the money that I won at the tableI've been killing myself trying to keep my mind off of you
Got another record and a phat tattoo
Everybody says, "Hey whatcha gonna do now?"
Everyone says it's better now that you're gone
Well maybe everyone is wrong
They say that I'm cool, they tell me I'm strongTelling myself it's better since you've been gone
Everyday I'm alone and everyday's long
So how come everything feels wrong?
How could you let me go?After it took so long to find me?
That everything's wrong and it's become plain
Take back your radio -- all of these stupid songs remind me
Even if I am strong, we'll never be the sameEverybody says, "Hey, whatcha gonna do now, babe?"
Well, I've done it all and still I am thinking of you
So don't tell me I'm cool and say that I'm strongEveryone thinks it's better now that you're gone
Well I think everyone is wrong
Cause everyday I'm alone and everyday's long
Telling myself it's better since you've been gone
So how come everything feels wrong?
