

No No No

Paolo Nutini

your know where you are headed but your lost along the way and the strangers that you see are getting stranger everyday and the blood continues flowing but the brain oh the brain slowly drips out and you crashed into the city with a smile upon your face and a body charged with music from the earphones in your case but the pressure keeps on growing but paradise, paradise is on its way And i say no no no we may never know there's enough surprises here to keep us going yea yea yea here's another day we're gonna step outside and take it all in while you're looking for some action as a hunter you're on fire there's some scary confrontations but never look them in the eye but there are miles and miles of pleasures to be had so no don't be sad never be sad now you're drowning in your coffee yea your living life so fast and one eye is staying golden while the other's seeing black and the blood continues rushing and you realize what here to be had And I say no no no we may never know there's enough surprises here to keep us going yea yea yea here's another day we're gonna step outside and take it all in no no no we may never know there's enough surprises here to keep us going yea yea yea here's another day we're gonna step outside and take it all in no no (ouuuuuuu) yea yea yea (ouuuuuuu)
