

Wedding Bells

Godley & Creme

I should have told you all I wanted was to have some fun
But you wanted me to be the permanent one, yes you did
Now when weâ€™re in the movies or the back of the car
You always stop me when I go too far
I should have known youâ€™d always keep me waiting for those wedding bells
Those wedding bells

Oh, we could talk all night but you won't understand
The only words you wanna hear is â€œdo you take this man?â€•
Does the loving conversation mean your pennyâ€™s dropping?
You should have known that I was only window shopping
It's my clumsy way of saying that we should be dropping those wedding bells
Those wedding bells

Iâ€™m like a square peg in a round hole
I don't belong here baby
Donâ€™t need a fanfare or a drum roll
To tell me baby
I don't belong to you baby

Oh, you say it's not important but I know what you're thinking
Cause every time we kiss, I feel your kisses stinging
In the back of my mind, I know you'll always be ringing
Those wedding bells, those wedding bells

I knew I should have told you what I wanted was to have some fun
But you wanted me to be the permanent one
Oh, I do accept the pleasure isnâ€™t worth the pain
Weâ€™ve run out of track before we got on the train
Canâ€™t you hear the sound of heartstrings snapping under the strain
Of those wedding bells, those wedding bells, wedding bells, those wedding bells
