Let The Rain

Sara Bareilles

I wish I were pretty
I wish I were brave
If I owned this city
Then I'd make it behave
And if I were fearless
Then I'd speak my truth
And the world would hear this
That's what I wish I'd do
Yeah-eh
Yeah-eh-eh
Yeah-eh-eh
Yeah-eh-eh
If my hands could hold them, you'd see
I'd take all these secrets in me
And I'd move and mold them to be Something I'd set free
I wanna darken in the skies
Open the floodgates up
I wanna change my mind
I wanna be enough
I want the water in my eyes
I wanna cry until the end of time
I wanna let the rain come down
Make a brand new ground
Let the rain come down
Let the rain come down
Make a brand new ground
Let the rain come down tonight
I hold on to worry so tight
It's safe in here right next to my heart
Who now shouts at the top of her voice
Let me go, let me out, this is not my choice
And I always felt it before
That the world was filled with much more
Than the drowning soul I've learned to be
I just need the rain to remind me
I wanna darken in the skies
Open the floodgates up
I wanna change my mind

I wanna be enough
I want the water in my eyes
I wanna cry until the end of time
I wanna let the rain come down
Make a brand new ground
Let the rain come down
Let the rain come down
Make a brand new ground
Let the rain come down
Let the rain come down
Let the rain come down
Make a brand new ground
Let the rain come down
Let the rain come down
Let the rain come down
Make a brand new ground
Let the rain come down tonight
