

You Don't Know Me

The Sweetest Condition

I can't take it when you put me down.
You make a fool out of me whenever I hit the ground.I'm picking up every piece that I can.
I know I've been here before like the back of my hand.You look at me like it's some kind of game, like I'm smaller than you, like I don't have a name.You can't tell me I'm not free,
'cause you don't own me! You don't own me!
You can't tell me what I need,
'cause you don't know me. You don't know me.I've had enough of being pushed around.
I'm not so weak anymore, since I've got what I found.No use twisting your words into hate;
no more using your fists;
no more controlling fate.I've grown a faith much bigger than you,
and those things that you do...
can't hurt me anymore!You can't tell me I'm not free,
'cause you don't own me! You don't own me!
You can't tell me what I need,
'cause you don't know me. You don't know me.You can't say you don't believe
'cause it's inside me! It's inside me!
You can't tell me I'm afraid,
'cause you don't know me. You don't know me
At all.And now and then when I see your face,
I remember the days
you were inside my head.All it took was for me to let go
to regain control,
and crawl out of your bed!
