Carry the Weight

Cityview

You're only 25 and there's still so many things you should know
There's lesson's to be learned,
That wait at every turn you as you grow, as you grow
And how you carry out your life,
Living one day at a time I don't know

You're only 25 and looking for a chair and a rope
When you'll learn, I don't know

Pre Chorus:
Maybe you can figure out, why you try to block it out
And maybe things will turn around
You can take it from me, I've been there before

Chorus:
And now I carry the weight
From all of my mistakes
And i made this bed, but i'm still awake
Now I carry the weight

You can think about
The people that you've hurt in your life
Looking back won't matter
So don't even try
You cover up and bury
Every single lie (every single lie)
You're only killing time the evidence will lead to the crime
when you'll learn I don't know

Pre Chorus:
Maybe you can figure out, why you try to block it out
And maybe things will turn around
You can take it from me, I've been there before

Chorus:
And now I carry the weight
From all of my mistakes
And i made this bed, but i'm still awake

Now I carry the weight

This could be the last time
If you wan it to be
It's alright

You're working on something bigger than this
Don't know, don't know what it is (You're working on something bigger than this
Don't know, don't know what it is)

You threw your life away
You regret everything
You're working on something bigger than this
But it's quiet safe and locked away

Pre Chorus:
Maybe you can figure out, why you try to block it out
And maybe things will turn around
You can take it from me, I've been there before

Chorus:
And now I carry the weight
From all of my mistakes
And the pain i've cost
That I can't erase
Now I carry the weight

You're only 25 and still so many things you should know
You should know
