

White Night

Rey Pila

'm trying not move
To sit down and choose
Memories and friends shoot back the hate that makes me shake I found that much is true
Diversions of myself
Relying on my youth and the steps I take
Moving forward means letting go again
Moving forward means... You got all what you need for the night and day
You got all what you need for the night and day I'll lay down by your side
It's hard to tell that truth
Don't know what to expect confusion blinds the pride from which I hide
You got all what you need for the night and day
You got all what you need for the night and day
You got all what you need for the night and day
You got all what you need for the night and day
