

Falling Awake

Tarja Turunen

Phantom voices with no words to follow
At the mercy of the cold and hollow
I withdrew into my sanctuary of silence My defenceIn this moment I am just becoming Liberated from my cell of nothing
No sensation there was only breathing Overcome oblivionFalling Awake
From a walking sleep
And all that remains
Is the dying memory
And now I can dive for these dreams I make
Like I am Falling
I am falling awakeWaves of melodies once forgotten like a symphony across the ocean Never knew that they could hear my calling deep within crashing in rushing in like fallingFalling Awake
From a walking sleep
And all that remains
Is the dying memory
And now I can dive for
these dreams I make
Like I am Falling
I am falling awakeThere is no returning to that emptiness, loneliness
The dream that lives inside of me won't fade away, it's wide awakeFalling Awake
From a walking sleep
And all that remains
Is the dying memory
And now I can dive for
these dreams I make
Like I am Falling
I am falling awake
