Between The Lines

Leigh Nash

Vacant look behind shades
An open book but the print fades
You may feel you wrote me, I'll be undercover
Until you need me that's where I'll be
I'm talking to you, not the Wailing wall
If that's what you do, this link may fallBetween the lines, can you read me?
Between the lines that's where I'll be
Between 'Hello' and 'I Would Give You The Moon
Between 'I Love You' and 'I, I'll See You Soon'As long as you've been screaming, I think youd listen
'Cause I tried getting my words off the ground
I'm shaking my fist, trying to feel like I'm something
Not just the long way around
I'm talking to you, not the Wailing Wall
If that's what you do, this link may fallBetween the lines, can you read me?
Between the lines that's where I'll be
Between 'Hello' and 'I Would Give You The Moon
Between 'I Love You' and 'I, I'll See You Soon'I won't hide from you I won't cover my ears, I gotta get a clue
One day my eyes will reveal what I tried to concealBetween the lines, can you read me?
Between the lines that's where I'll be
Between 'Hello' and 'I Would Give You The Moon
Between 'I Love You' and 'I, I'll See You Soon'I'm talking to you, not the Wailing Wall
If that's what you do, this link may fallBetween the lines, can you read me?
Between the lines that's where I'll beBetween the lines, can you read me?
Between the lines that's where I'll be .
