

Don't Take My Dreams Away

Sweet Pea

I used to be ashamed of crying
I used to be afraid to die
But now Iâ€™m not afraid of dying
And Iâ€™m not ashamed to cry

I used to live on a one-way going nowhere
Discontent in my mind
I wanted to know all the answers, but the questions
I just didnâ€™t recognize
Coexisting in a fantasy
But really trying to slow down
Always searching for a similarity
Hoping to turn my world around

Now when I cry
I cry
And when I die, well
Then Iâ€™ll be gone
After Iâ€™m long gone and Iâ€™ve gone home, aw
Just leave it alone and donâ€™t take my dreams away

I used to worry â€™bout what Mama taught me
And it consumed me to the core
It seemed with every fleeing moment
I was looking, looking for more
Kept on senselessly, constantly, longing
Wondering what was going on
Found myself turning and tossing
Helplessly trying to be strong

Now when I cry
I cry
And when I die, well
Then Iâ€™ll be gone
After Iâ€™m long gone and Iâ€™ve gone home, aw
Just leave it alone and donâ€™t take my dreams away

Dream baby
Ready to take flight
Dream baby

Tell me
Where is home tonight
