

A Long History of Love

King King

Just one more day
Make my troubles seem far away
There's a light in my life (oh oh)
And it's telling me: Don't worry, it's gonna be alright
A long history of love
Has taken its toll on me now
A long history of love
Has made me a better man somehow
For the rest of my days
I stare at my heart and I only see your face
When I'm down on my knees in pain
I'm praying that you reach down and save me once again
A long history of love
Has taken its toll on me now
A long history of love
Has made me a better man somehow
And every day in every way
It feels like I'm walking in the driving rain (oh no)
With every step I take I got a voice inside my head
It's telling me live for another day (Solo)
When I close my eyes
I can feel your heart beating next to mine
When life gets you down sometimes
I look in your eyes and I know it's gonna be just fine
A long history of love
Has taken its toll on me now
A long history of love
Has made me a better man somehow
A long history of love
Has taken its toll on me now
A long history of love
Has made me a better man somehow

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>