

Goodbye Girl

Luke Bryan

Yeah, I know that color on your lips too well
I saw you blowin kisses down the wishin well again
When I say, I love you, you just say, I know
You put your arms around me, but its all for show and then There you go, wrecking my whole world
All fixed up, my goodbye girl You scatter in the wind just like a dandelion
Reminding me again that you aint ever mine for long
But I know whats gonna happen when the moon is right
Youll show up at my door and pull me in just like a song And there you go, wrecking my whole world
One more hello, one more goodbye girl It might seem crazy to keep lovin you this way
But Ill never bring myself to say
Goodbye girl The sun is gonna make its way around again
But the rain is always waitin just around the bend There you go, wrecking my whole world
One more hello, one more goodbye girl
All fixed up, my goodbye girl
Goodbye girl
Goodbye girl
