Sword

ASHES dIVIDE

Spreading your love from the tip of a sword
Echoing an elitism that poisons you
Thinking you know whats good for us all
I wish I could reach out, andSilence you.., but Im a waste in your eyes
You say you dont need me to
Save you tonight
But I need to
Save you tonightIm Standing alone on the brink of a storm trying to Humanize the enemy inside of you, were Cut from the same cloth but we are
Stained with the poison of pride
Were sucking the life from the whole of the world
We cant be confined or condemned to be Reduced to a place to survive and resolve
In the end theyll try, andSilence you
Cause were a
Waste in their eyes
The grace they describe
Wont save you tonightSpreading your love from the tip of a sword
Echoing an elitism that poisons you
We wont ever feel alone anymore or let pride
Come before a fall
I wish you could see me for something more than the Things Im confined and condemned to be
They will know our names and we Wont be ignored, so that we
May see some light
Dont let themSilence you
Cause youre a
Waste in their eyes
Theres a grace inside of you
I need tonight
