

Tonight

Reach the Sky

Just take some time away from all of this because its going to be the only way you're going to see things clear. But find me when you figure out what's going on inside your head because I can't lose you. So stay with me for one last time. I can't let this slip away. So stay with me for one last time I can't let you slip away. And when I see you around, how am I supposed to act, there's no way I could pretend. But don't forget me when you're gone. It's going to be so hard to pick up all the pieces and move along. So stay with me for one last time I can't let this slip away. So stay with me for one last time I can't let you slip away. Tonight I lose my best friend.

Tonight I lose it all. How can I stop you from walking away?
