Flown Away

Lene Marlin

I've flown too high on borrowed wings
Beyond the clouds and where the angels sings
In a sky containing no one but me
Up there's all empty and down there's the sea
No one here but meThere's nothing but light
That comes into sight
Ho, ohhThere's something up here that makes me wince
And I still got the feelings that I've felt ever since
I got to this place arrived at last
In front there's the future, right back there's the past
Everything's movin' so fastThere's nothing but light
That comes into sight
Ho, ohhThe present like I've never seen it before
Is this the right place to stay
Please my wings, fly me awayThe present like I've never seen it before
Is this the right place to stay
Please my wings, fly me awayPlease my wings, fly me away
Please my wings, fly me away
