Flown Away

Lene Marlin

I've flown too high on borrowed wings Beyond the clouds and where the angels sings In a sky containing no one but me Up there's all empty and down there's the sea No one here but meThere's nothing but light That comes into sight Ho, ohhThere's something up here that makes me wince And I still got the feelings that I've felt ever since I got to this place arrived at last In front there's the future, right back there's the past Everything's movin' so fastThere's nothing but light That comes into sight Ho, ohhThe present like I've never seen it before Is this the right place to stay Please my wings, fly me awayThe present like I've never seen it before Is this the right place to stay Please my wings, fly me awayPlease my wings, fly me away Please my wings, fly me away
