

Could She Be Mine

Donny Osmond

Been there dreaming, helps to pass the time
Got to thinking 'bout this girl that could be mine
She's got everything, mm
But I don't think, she even knows
All the while inside my love for her still grows
I want everything, she's got everything

She could be Bardot & Monroe, Sophia Loren
She could be reincarnated as Hepburn again
She could be perfect to love, simply divine
Could she be mine, ooh

From my window, I can see her place
I know her silhouette so well that I could trace
Every curve & line
Seems a crazy way, to pass my time away
Listing clothes that she would wear to work that day
How she looks so fine, wishing she was mine

Could I be just what she needs, am I fooling myself
She would ever choose me instead of anyone else
Could it be that our fate, is inter twined
Could she be mine

I asked my best friend, if he thought she could be mine
He just laughed, I didn't take it as a positive sign
His advice was "man, she's way out of your league
She's the sun, and the moon, she is shining . . . for me"

I am just what she needs, am I fooling myself
She would ever choose me instead of anyone else
Could it be that our fate, is inter twined
Could she be mine, Ooh . . . ooh mine . . . yeah
Could she be mine, mmm
All mine
