Stranger In The Mirror

Trapt

Looking for some validation
Like everyone else, everyone else
Going through a transformation
Losing myself, losing myself
I tried to make the pieces fit
When I knew it wasn't me
On the outside looking in
Now I can see
There's a stranger in the mirror
Looking back at me now
The illusion's getting clearer
I'm lost and I cannot be found
I don't recognize my face
I'm just so out of place
Who have I become?
There's a stranger in the mirror
Oh, I got a find a way out
I gave off the wrong impression
Somebody else, somebody else
I know I made some bad decisions
Now the regret is all I have left
Am I afraid of who I am?
Can I be satisfied?
If there's a way to take it back?
Who will I find?
There's a stranger in the mirror
Looking back at me now
The illusion's getting clearer
I'm lost and I cannot be found
I don't recognize my face
I'm just so out of place
Who have I become?
There's a stranger in the mirror
Oh, I got a find a way out
Stop running, running
Stop running, running
Stop running, running
Stop running away from me
There's a stranger in the mirror

I forgot who I once was
There's a stranger in the mirror
And I can't be something I know that I'm not
There's a stranger in the mirror
Looking back at me now
The illusion's getting clearer
I'm lost and I cannot be found
I don't recognize my face
I'm just so out of place
Who have I become?
There's a stranger in the mirror
Oh, I got a find a way out

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/