

Just Like Me

Haji's Kitchen

as i look deep into your eyes, i feel your hatred building up inside faded words of so many heartbeats, echoing with glorious lies

there's nothing here
and nothing there
you're headed for something
don't be so blind

you will never be open
you're hoping to find
well the key
you will never be something you're nothing, just like me
well like me

take a look down at all you're friends and all the time you spent in misery tell me how you can justify your standing on a cloud up in the sky now you know how people change you won't be glad you won't be strange
is that so
so hard to see?

there's nothing here
and nothing there
you're headed for something
don't be so blind

you will never be open
you're hoping to find
well the key
you will never be something
you're nothing, just like me
well like me

faded words of so many heartbeats,

echoing with glorious lies

there's nothing here
and nothing there
you're headed for something
don't be so blind

you will never be open
you're hoping to find
well the key
you will never be something
you're nothing, just like me
well like me(x2)

Lyrics submitted by socrates.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>